The Democratic County Convention re-

During the time of recess there was a general discussion as to the split in the party. The "Big Ten" said Carey and Hinkson wanted to hog the whole thing. Now they have got it, let us see what they will do with it. It was openly declared by the Big Ten that no "first-class" man would following result: Ayes, 57; noes, 73. dare take a nomination at the hands of such a Convention, for it meant certain defeat and everlasting political damnation. The country delegates were sadly demoralized and disgusted, particularly so the Brighton delegation. Many were in favor of adjurning sine die and going home.

FISHING FOR A CANDIDATE. Twelve o'clock came, and the Chairman Twelve o'clock came, and the Chairman was not present, neither was the committee who had been sent to wait upon Cox. It was reported that the committee had him cornered at the Capital Hotel, and that he was "almost persuaded." One o'clock came, and still the delegates were on the anxious seat. At five minutes past 1 the committee hove in sight, having in their charge the receiption. Senator As soon.

As soon as they entered the hall the Senator was marched to a front seat, and the word was passed around that he was "still obstinate;" that he still refused the nomination. Even the declaration of J. J. O'Connor, that if Cox would accept he would get his transfer from San Francisco and swell the Democratic majority in this county, was wasted upon the obdurate Senator. He had fully made up his mind not to accept, and was inflexible in his determination not to take the position of standard-bearer to lead in a hopeless cause.

He had at that time accepted reluctantly, and only then at the earnest solicitation of certain very particular friends. He made the fight, and he placed the Democrats on top. He went into the Senate a sick man, but was proud of his record. He treated both Democrats and Republicans right, and came out clean-handed. No higher compliment could be paid him than was now tendered, but there were things in his way of accepting it. His private business would suffer thereby, and it would interfere with an intended trip for his health. He said there was some things in his private business affairs that precluded the possibility of his accept. He had told everybody he would not accept. He meant what he said, and would mot under any circumstance go back on his word. He was not afraid of being sat down upon, but he cautioned the Democracy and eloquence, and said if they could not get a standard-bearer in Carey as a candidate for District Attorney. He had been tried in that office, and a good tried, and could carry the ticket through to victory in November.

Mr. Davis said:

Mr. Davis said:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of this Convention: This is something new for me, making a speech to a Convention. It is my first attempt. I want to do all the good I can for the Democratic party. I have always worked for the best interests of the party. I hate to see this discord in the ranks. I have told Democrats that I would stand in for this nomination for the good of the party, and I will do so. I think good of the party, and I will do so. I think good of the party, and I will do so. This declination of the two Democratic war-horses fell like a pall over the entire assemblage. Many delegates withdrew, and those in the lobby and galleries withdrew Carey then proceeded by saying that his friend Stephenson, from Franklin, had been almost persuaded to stand in. He ought to stand in, for he would make a good Sheriff. He placed him in nomination. He had fully made up his mind not to accept, and was inflexible in his determination not to take the position of standard-bearer to lead in a hopeless cause. He knew what he was about, and neither the plaintive appeals of the "Little Six" nor the pathetic adjurations of the "Big Ten" had any effect upon him.

After about twenty minutes of this kind of circus, the Chairman called the Convention and could speak for himself.

The Committee on Senator Cox was called upon to report.

Mr. Cox then stepped down from the platform and walked out of the Convention. It is currently reported that if the "Big Ten" had won at the primaries Mr. Cox would not have declined the nomination with such pertinacity. He is a shrewd politician, and knows a good year from an off year.

A vote of thanks, accompanied by three cheers, was given Dr. Durant, the Chairman, for the able and impartial manner in which he had presided over the deliberations of the Convention.

John Miller said he did not consider General Carey's excuses valid, therefore he would move that General Carey be nominated for District Attorney by acclamation.

The city delegates immediately organized, with Add. C. Hinkson as Chairman and George T. Maginnis as Secretary.

General Carey moved that the order of nominations for city officials be as follows:

The Chair announced that the next thing in order was the nomination of a candidate for Sheriff. After several minutes' waiting the Chair became impatient and said if the Convention meant business they had better proceed.

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATOR.

When this order of business was called there was another long pause, and just as it was about to be passed General Carey got up and commenced making a facetious speech, talking about "graveyards yawning," etc. He had made a mistake. He thought the order of business was the nomination of a Coroner. He corrected himself, and said there was but little difference between them—one sat upon the cadaver and the other got away with whatever the cadaver left. He named for Public Administrator George F. REPEATING A LIE

The Sacramento Democratic Convention has trailed along in the slime and mud of the late Democratic State Convention, and given its indorsement to the lie of that body in denominating the Burlingame treaty the "Burlingame-Swift treaty." E. Greer and J. M. Stevenson accept the fatherhood of the platform, being the committee that reported it. These gentlemen, and every one of them know that the term used to designate the Burlingame treaty conveys a false impression; that to the ignorant mind, the uninformed and the dicted disturbance in this section. Because he assumes that a political lie is pardonable; that in politics all is fair to secure the triumph of party. Yet neither of these gentlemen in private life would be guilty of any such infamies. We believe they have been led into this unmanly thing by a false, dangerous and RALEIGH (N. C.), September 29th.-On Thursday night the store. of A. D. Owens, at Creswell, Martin county, was entered by burglars. Owens' dwelling adjoined the store. He heard the noise and stepped to the door. As he did so he saw two burglars. One fired, killing Owens. Since that time the authorities have been on the track of the burglars and murderers. On Monday night Sheriff Sprewill arrived at Plymouth with the wife of the murdered man and two negroes. Another negro, James Davenport, alias James Ambrose, was shot and killed. One of the negroe made a confession some days ago, as follows: That Mrs. Owens had hired them to kill her husband. She wished them to drown him, and prepared water in a barrel for that purpose. She gave him medicine to put him in a sound leep, and three negroes actually stood by his bedside ready to commit the crime, bu their courage failed them. Finally, Ambrose, some nights afterwards, entered the tore, and when Owens appeared shot him. Ambrose was pursued, and on making a desperate attempt to kill members of the Sheriff's posse, was shot through the heart.

Senator Routier cailed at the Record to state Treasurer on the Labor party's ticket. He desired to state that while he is anti-Chinese and the friend of labor, his name had been used by the Labor party without his knowledge or consent, and that he positively declines the socalled nomination. He says he is entirely opposed to multiplying parties upon this issue, as both of the great parties are openly anti-Chinese, and acceptable candidates.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, September 29th.—The coming of the Southern Pacific Railroad is working great changes in this county. The slow-going old settlers are opening their eyes to the benefits which will follow the advent of the road. The construction train reaches San Miguel next Saturday, and will pass Paso Robles and reach Crocker during the month of October. Crocker being in the center of these ranches, is now rapidly settling up in small subdivisions, and will get a big boom from the start, as it will also be the terminus for at least six months be the terminus for at least six months. The next point will be through More Pass. The Paso Robles ranch is selling rapidly at very low prices, but satisfactory to the owners. Ground was broken to-day in Crocker for a hotel, livery stable, postoffice, express office, butcher shop and drug store. The maps of the town are not yet out, but ten lets were seld vestedley. Comer lets ten lots were sold yesterday. Corner lots are readily bringing $250 each. The surveyors are setting the grade stakes across the Paso Robles rauch. The county will be asked to build a bridge across the Salinas at Crocker, and probably at Paso Robles. The Small-pex Scourge. Nogales, September 29th.—The small pox scourge in Sonora is decidedly alarm ing, and many people are hurrying out of that country. The disease is confined to the southern part of that State, principally from Hermosillo to Guaymas. At Guaymas the death rate has been startling, also at intermediate stations between these points. At Torres Station, the second station south of Hermosillo, containing a population of less than two hundred, 19 deaths occurred in two days. The disease seems to be confined exclusively to the Mexican population, and in most cases, especially of old persons, it is quite tatal.

The Yaqui War. GUAYMAS, September 29th.—Matters regarding the Yagui revolution are going backward, the Indians being the aggressors.

At the last open battle many Federals were killed. No active measures seem to be taken by the Government forces against th Indians.

A Water Famine in Guaymas. Nogales, September 29th.—There is a water famine in Guaymas. The wells have many of them given out, and water is sell-ing at 25 per cent. higher. About twenty years ago I discovered a little sore on my cheek, and the doctors pronounced it cancer. I have tried a number of physicians, but without receiving any permanent benefit. Among the number were one or two specialists. The medicine they applied was like fire to the sore, causing intense pain. I saw a statement in the papers teiling what S. S. S. had done for others similarly afflicted. I procured some at once. Before I had used the second bottle the neighbors could notice that my cancer was healing up. My general health had been had for two or three years—I had a hacking cough and spit blood continually. I had a severe pain in my breast. After taking six bottles of S. S. S. my cough left me and I grew stouter than I had been for several years. My cancer has healed over all but a little spot about the size of a half dime, and it is rapidly disappearing. I would advise every one with cancer to give S. S. S. a fair trial.
